DPD raises $1,500 through the Pink Patch Project

The Duluth Police Department would like to thank everyone who donated and supported the Pink Patch Project. This is the second year that the Duluth Police Department participated in the campaign. With your support, we raised $1,572, with all proceeds going directly to the American Cancer Society.

“This campaign is not only a great way to collect memorabilia from DPD, but it’s also a way for the community to come together to help find a cure to all cancers,” said Chief Mike Ceynowa. “I want to thank the public for your generosity in raising money towards the American Cancer Society. We look forward to participating in the Pink Patch Project campaign next year.”

Next October, we’ll be back for the third year to raise money for the American Cancer Society through the Pink Patch Project campaign.
